

Winter is here....

Winter is here and it's a fantastic time to help your child learn about the changes and the weather. Talk and put on the correct clothing for the weather when it is wet or cold.

Why don't you go on a Winter treasure hunt. Why don't you see how many signs of Winter you can see. We have included a list of the things you may try to find (Winter treasure hunt sheet). You can make a mark near the ones you find. We have included a communication board to support your child say what they can see on your walk too.

While out on your walks why don't you try making pictures with sticks and other natural resources and take a photo once you've finished them. We'd love to see them and make a gallery of photos!

If you take photos of your walk or you have any comments, please email one of us:
